Telephone systems have long been the domain of corporate and business users. Advanced features like access to multiple lines, conference calling, and music on hold can be difficult to use and are typically associated with expensive telephone systems. The Unifone, an Australian-designed and award winning telephone system makes these corporate-style features available to you.

Why just have a home phone when you can afford a Unifone?

Unifone has more options which offer greater control...

The Unifone, an Australian-designed and award winning telephone system makes these corporate-style features available to you for your home because it is affordable. Unifone offers you all of the features of a corporate business telephone system, without having to pay the associated premiums. Now our homes can enjoy the benefits of a telephone system too.

And in these days of the home office, you can now have the best for both your home and business.

Looks great works better...

As a 2003 winner of the Australian Design Awards, the Unifone has been designed to be practical in the way it looks and how you use it.

Harsh straight edges become gentle curves for the handset and the keys. Menu keys are next to menus, key lamps are in the key you press, and the handset has been ergonomically designed to rest in the hand. The Unifone is incredibly logical in its design which makes it simple to use. It is also easily programmed to meet your needs.

Multiple Phone Lines:

Now that Unifone offers you more than one phone line coming into your home, you can have dedicated lines to suit your personal requirements; have a separate line for your home office; use the internet and keep your regular home phone free for incoming calls; or allow an extra phone line for family members like teenagers, so you can always have an extra line free if required.

Intercommunication:

Your Unifone can also be used as an intercom system. Room to room calling allows you to use your handset to dial another specific handset in your home and talk to someone in another room. You can also monitor a room, for instance, where your children are playing, by dialling the handset in that room and listening in. The Unifone also operates as a hands-free paging unit. You can even answer your front door or gate by activating the Unifone front door station (if fitted) from any extension throughout your home.

Expandability:

From 2 lines with 6 extensions, up to 6 lines and 12 extensions, the Unifone has the ability to grow with your home or business.

Simple modular expansion makes Unifone an ideal investment for the long term, as it will accommodate you now, and can expand with your home and business in the future.
